

AP Government & Politics Students: This is voluntary we will have time when school starts to do this.

Thank you for enrolling in AP U.S. Government & Politics. It is going to be an interesting year. There is not a separate assignment for Macroeconomics for the summer.

In preparation for class, please read the U.S. Constitution. It is what the entire course is based upon. Please pay special attention to the amendments. We will have Amendment test the second week of school.

A great website for the Constitution is <https://constitutioncenter.org/interactive-constitution#> there you can read the Constitution and if you choose to delve deeply you may interact with different interpretations as to what each amendment means. The “politics” portion of the course will be easier for you if you do so.

Stephanie Wilson